Design Trees, Charts & Reports!

Create colorful trees, heirloom-quality charts, reports and family books that will be cherished by your family members now and in future years, with Family Tree Heritage's genealogy design tools.

New Features

Exciting new features to help you easily research your ancestors and share your family story.

Interactive Research Timeline

Uncover new information about your ancestors. The research timeline helps you uncover clues that will assist you in researching your family history by uncovering events in an ancestor's lifetime. These events may have affected your ancestors, such as a war or immigration issue, and they can point you to additional resources to help you learn more about your ancestors. There are several pre-designed event groups to choose from. You may also add your own events. The Timeline view is interactive: click on names, dates, and places to see how it responds. A Timeline report is available for printing.

Tags

Tag ancestor similarities—up to 3 tags per person. You can create your own set of Tags and assign up to three Tags to the various individuals in your database. This is a popular and useful new feature among genealogists. The tags display on various screens and reports in Family Tree Heritage.

Color Coding

Easily identify individuals and family lines. This four color filing system has gained popularity among genealogists over the past few years. This feature allows you to add background colors to the name boxes for individuals and/or family lines. The color coding will display on various screens and reports, allowing you to easily track individuals from both the maternal and paternal sides of your mother and father's ancestors.

Four-Color Fan Charts

Enhanced Fan Chart With color coding, you can now generate a Four-Color Fan Chart and include siblings in the first generation of the chart.

The other reviewer is right. This is a specialized spreadsheet to simplify what is a pain to do. I like this program. But lets say Gramps does it better... and Gramps does it well and certainly doesn't hide a lot of complexity. To me, however, I just want to fill out the really cool 9 generation chart for my daughter which is within the CadStd Pro program for Gedcom files. She's young... but some day, she'll be older. If things are simple, I've got a better shot at getting it done sooner, then if things are not. Yes, it does link to various genealogy links including ancestry.com. I never got handed a chart of all the way from that city in England, or a family graveyard near me of 7 generations. If so, I'd only need to digitize what I knew and would probably scoff at other find and seek tools. However, find and seek is difficult enough... and this exports a gedcom file that is better understood by CadStd Pro than Gramps, so I'll keep using this. Gramps might be the long term, if there is a long term.. This program is only a spread sheet. The search function relies heavily on Ancestry.com and brings up only the basic info, mostly the same basic info you had to enter to perform the search. Access to detailed information, documents or photos will require subscribing to Ancestry.com.
